

Hi Wales (and Alf),

In case you are not aware (but I am sure Alf is), this picture is taken of Aston Brook (hidden by tram) from Aston Road looking from town. The tram is turning into the bottom end of Miller Street at a point where there were no houses. There is a bank on the l.h. corner and shops (you can see them) on the other side. I remember there was a telephone box (push button A & B) outside the bank just around the corner. The first building on the right of the picture was a doctors and a friend from St. Marys School, John Weare (who was a brilliant scholar), lived on the top floor with his mother and younger brother.
